

Message from SAMA

As part of the organisation's ongoing efforts to enhance accessibility and environmental sustainability, we are excited to inform you that the South African Medical Journal (SAMJ) will be transitioning from print to a digital (online) publication, starting on 1 March 2024. This means that you will be able to enjoy the SAMJ from the comfort of your electronic device, anytime, anywhere.

This decision aligns with our commitment to staying current with technological advancements and reducing our ecological footprint. Moving forward, all SAMJ issues will be exclusively available in digital format, either as PDF or ebooks, on the journal or organisation website.

We look forward to continuing our journey together in this digital era.
